

Angel Falls

5-315

Today we are inviting you on a trip to Angel falls. But before you pack your bags, here are some cool facts and information you should know before you go. Don't worry...The money is on us!!!

Where Is It?

Angel Falls is located in Venezuela, South America!

Why should this be one of the natural wonders? We believe that old/ancient structures should get proper recognition. Also, it is a REALLY big fall. It is also bigger than Empire State and Niagara Falls (which are both on a wonder list)

Description

This beautiful waterfall had a Flower bed at the with a hard rocky case surrounding it. You hear the sounds of the water falling into the cold rocks below. If you were to climb this mountain, the rocks would Scrip-scrape you like extra sharp blades. The dust would chalk your palms like blowing of a chalkboard. Regardless of what it's called - just as a rose by any other name would smell as sweet, and taste like misty water-clean and crisp like an apple.

How it was formed

The way Angel Falls was formed is when water rushes down steep hillsides and quickly erodes rocks. When two plate tectonics collide, the Earth pushes land up which creates mountains. At some point, a stream of water flows up the mountain and it cracks open. Now it is what feels like a never ending waterfall.

Fun Fact

One of the first people to discover the falls was Jimmie Angel. In 1935, Jimmie Angel discovered the falls when he was flying over the Carra River in search for gold!
